

Foreword

Since its beginning in 1978, the National Institute for Staff and Organizational Development (NISOD) has sought to serve, engage, and inspire higher education faculty and staff. Our conference, resources, and publications strive to reinforce the importance of teaching and leading and to celebrate instructors, staff, and administrators who make good on the promise of the open door.

In 1989, in connection with a University of Texas national study of teaching excellence, NISOD hosted its first ceremony, held in conjunction with our annual International Conference on Teaching and Leadership Excellence, honoring and naming the individuals featured in this study as recipients of the NISOD Excellence Award. The response to that ceremony was so positive that we decided to begin what has become a celebratory tradition.

Early each academic year, we ask NISOD presidents to submit the names of individuals their colleges wish to recognize for excellence in education. Selection criteria are left to the discretion of each institution. All individuals whose names are submitted are recognized as NISOD Excellence Awards recipients. A special ceremony, featuring a video presentation to honor the recipients, is held on the final day of the annual NISOD Conference; all recipients are featured in the awards booklet and presented with a medallion that has been specially cast in their honor. (Those unable to attend the conference receive the medallion and booklet by mail.)

We are indebted to NISOD colleges for their continuing support of this annual celebration. The Excellence Awards tradition gives NISOD the distinct privilege of honoring so many of our community colleges' best. Community college faculty, staff, and administrators are true heroes in this world—providing second and third chances for everyday people—teaching them to read, equipping them with new skills, and creating opportunities for them to earn a livable wage. Congratulations, from NISOD, to the 2011 Excellence Awards recipients!

CONGRATULATIONS TO OUR NISOD EXCELLENCE AWARD WINNERS!

Mona Hamilton

Professor of Computer Technology

I find joy in helping students set and achieve goals that can change their lives. There is nothing better than knowing you have made a positive difference in the life of another person.

Missy James

Professor of English

“Try to be one of those on whom nothing is lost”—Henry James’ dictum for writers speaks to me as a teacher. Each moment with a student offers an opportunity to create learning.

Dr. Moana Karsteter

Professor of Mathematics

My desire to have students understand the concepts of mathematics is what motivates me. The key to success is having a passion for what you teach.

Dr. Shayn Lloyd

Associate Professor of Psychology

Teaching can empower students to learn more about themselves, changing their lives for the better.

Susan Wessner

Associate Professor of College Preparatory Math

One of the best parts of teaching is seeing my students succeed. The smiles on their faces are priceless and, hopefully, the confidence they gain will stay with them throughout their college career.

Thank you for your exceptional leadership in and out of the classroom.

NISOD

Excellence Award Recipients 2011

Deeper learning occurs when there is ongoing collaboration between teacher and student. I prefer asking my students to ponder why something behaves a certain way, rather than simply teaching them what steps to follow to achieve a certain outcome. When we provide students learning opportunities outside their classrooms – especially in areas beyond their current interests – they develop in unexpected dimensions.

- Margie Bleichman
Professor and Department Chair,
Computer Science

Our lives are a journey of learning. I learn from my students, as they learn from me. Each individual brings their own unique compilation of learning to the classroom and builds upon that in a wide variety of ways. I encourage students to discover how best to add those blocks to their own foundations to not only learn, but be able to apply this new knowledge.

- Nora Linskey
Adjunct Professor,
Mathematics

I believe my students can excel in chemistry if they have the commitment and are willing to put in the effort consistently. My role as a teacher is to guide them in what it takes to be successful in chemistry, challenge them to give their best effort and never give up, acknowledge them for their hard work and successes, and send them on to the next learning opportunity more confident in themselves.

- Sarah Quast
Professor, Chemistry
Department Chair, Science

Be Excellent. Be Bergen.

Bergen Community College Professor Brian Altano is defined by excellence.

It's fitting, then, that Professor Altano is a recipient of the 2010 NISOD Excellence Award.

As a member of the faculty of Bergen's School of English, Professor Altano's career spans two decades. He has strived to connect innovative teaching and learning methods to the curriculum of classes such as Composition I and II, World Literature I and II and the American Language Program. His affable style and warm personality resonates with his students.

Professor Altano puts his personality on display outside the classroom too. He is the star of the "Just a Jersey Guy" series of performances about New Jersey and the interesting people who call the Garden State home. The one-man stage show, which takes place at the College, has drawn more than 1,000 attendees.

Congratulations, Professor Altano for doing your part to define Bergen excellence.

Mikal McDowell, Professor of Mathematics, teaches developmental mathematics, statistics and college algebra courses at Cedar Valley College. Currently, he serves as the Co-Chair of the committee responsible for designing Cedar Valley College's Quality Enhancement Plan, a vital component of the SACS reaffirmation process.

Professor McDowell has played an integral role in bringing technology-based instructional options to students, designing a state-of-the-art tutoring center, and implementing a new mathematics complex that features a mathematics resource center. McDowell received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of Texas at Dallas.

CONGRATULATIONS
Mikal McDowell

"Teaching mathematics provides rewarding, exciting experiences that I cherish. The times when I realize that I have successfully conveyed a fully developed concept to my students are the most satisfying in my career. I like to look on students' faces when they "see it," when they "get it," and when they "sense it," fully grasping the concept. Sometimes they see the beauty of it, and appreciate both the mathematical concept itself, as well as, their accomplishment in being able to "see it."

Celebrating their higher purpose

Our entire campus congratulates Dawn Keith, School of Liberal Arts, and Dic Charge, School of Agriculture and Natural Sciences, this year's recipients of the NISOD Excellence in Teaching Leadership Awards. Both instructors have a higher purpose:

"I believe a good leader and teacher can help to produce other leaders through shared values, goals and finding a common purpose; much like a gardener nurturing its plants. In my classes I try to instill these attributes for my students so they value the educational experiences in an open minded way."

-Dawn Keith

"Teaching, in a word, is about 'passion.' My passion for my students, and for the science of biology, is something I bring to the table every time I get to work with my students. Students become engaged by our passion and, with it, we ignite the wonder of learning. "
